Water Efficiency Labeling (WELS)

With the drought and dwindling water supplies, it is becoming more and more important for Australians to conserve water and find new ways to reduce water consumption.

Unique Home Products sanitary products and tap ware all comply with the relevant WELS rating and labeling according to the standards. To assure consumers not only the highest quality product, but also a product that will save them water and comply with the WELS standard NZS6400:2005 Water-efficient products-Rating and labeling.

All mixers, tapware and toilets should be labeled with the appropriate water rating for that specific model, giving the consumer peace of mind and giving them the freedom to be able to choose the product that suits their needs and water usage.

All Unique basins are double glazed, which makes it tougher against bacteria build up, suitable for aged care, healthcare, commercial and residential applications.
